History

This brass bell was produced as an official Walt Disney Productions souvenir, likely dating from the 1970s to 1980s when such decorative bells were popular collectibles sold at Disney theme parks and through licensed retailers. These bells featured beloved Disney characters and were marketed as both functional items and decorative keepsakes, representing the golden age of Disney merchandise when quality metal figurines were common souvenirs.

Vintage Disney collectibles like this Tinker Bell bell appeal strongly to Disney memorabilia collectors, nostalgia enthusiasts, and fans of Peter Pan and Tinker Bell specifically. The
